Hay wagons or hayracks were an important part of farm life and the harvesting process. They were used to carry hay and straw, but also to have fun. Trips to the the timber for nutting or berrying were always enjoyed by all. The above photo shows Joe Alt driving the hayrack behind a team of horses, and below driving his Ford 8N tractor with a load of grandkids for a ride to the timber to pick up nuts.